

The Nancy & David Wolf Holocaust & Humanity Center exists to ensure the lessons of the Holocaust inspire action today. HHC was formed by a passionate group of Holocaust survivors and their families and opened its doors in 2000. Each year, the Center reaches more than 200,000 individuals through its permanent exhibit, traveling exhibits, outreach, digital programming, and educator workshops.

- In 2019, the Holocaust & Humanity Center made its groundbreaking move to Cincinnati's historic Union Terminal. It is the only Holocaust museum in the United States with an authentic connection to its site. Hundreds of Holocaust survivors and thousands of servicemembers arrived in Cincinnati by train during and after World War II.
- In its first year at Union Terminal, the Nancy & David Wolf Holocaust & Humanity Center increased its visitation by 400 percent. Tens of thousands of visitors have come from 45 different states.
- The Center trains more than 100 teachers – who reach more than 12,000 students – on average annually through a variety of resources, workshops, and programs.
- The Holocaust & Humanity Center launched a robust digital programming line-up at the start of the pandemic. The Center is poised to host more than 150 digital programs in 2020 since mid-March. Approximately 95 percent of attendees said they learned something new about the Holocaust after attending an HHC digital program, and 92 percent said they feel a responsibility to stand up to antisemitism and hate after watching one of our programs.
- Called a “must-see exhibit” and “an inspiration,” the Holocaust & Humanity Center at Union Terminal boasts 7,500 square feet of museum space and a 1,500-square-foot climate-controlled collections and archival space for precious artifacts.
- HHC is an active member of the Association of Holocaust Organizations, partner with USHMM and many other Holocaust centers and museums and has been named a Center of Excellence by the Jewish Foundation for the Righteous. Locally, HHC partners with a variety of institutions on programming such as Xavier University, the National Underground Railroad Freedom Center, the Coalition Against Hate, and the Jewish Community Relations Council of Cincinnati.
- The HHC website has engaged users from 157 countries since June 2019, and HHC's social media gained 4 million+ digital impressions since the beginning of the pandemic.
- Currently, HHC employs 7 full-time and 7 part-time employees, and operates with a $1 million annual budget.
